

So Sweet

Devil in a Woodpile (2004) from Blind Boy Fuller (1940)

Hey mama, hey gal
Don't you hear me callin' you?

She's so sweet, yeah, sweet
My little baby's so sweet

Don't need no sugar in my tea
The woman I'm lovin', she's sweet enough for me

Solos

See my baby comin', don't act so smart
I'll cut your liver, boy, I'll plug your heart

I hate to see my good gal go home
When I'm doin' right must be really doin' wrong

Solos

Hey mama, hey gal
Don't you hear Cookin' Sherry callin' you?

extra verses, from Blind Boy Fuller:

I love my baby, love her to her bone
I hate to see my sweet sugar go home

Make a million trips from where I'd rather be
But she's sweeter than anything in this world to me

verse:

D, D

G, D

chorus:

D, A

D, D
